Some offbeat holidays you can celebrate in December

December 3rd: 20th Anniversary of the First Text Message

SMS was born on this date in 1992. The first message, sent to a Vodafone engineer, was "Merry Christmas." Celebrate every time you don't have to actually pick up the phone and call someone.

December 10th: Nobel Prize Day

Swedish inventor Alfred Nobel may have died on this day in 1896, but his namesake continues to be honored through the world's most prestigious award. In honor of his life, the Nobel Prize Ceremony is held every year on the day of his death.

December 13th: National Cocoa Day

The weather outside is starting to get frightful, but what better cure for the temperature blues than a nice cup of hot cocoa? A down coat or a wool hat simply can't compete in the taste department.

December 23rd: Festivus!

Then of course, there's always Festivus for the rest of us. Created by a Seinfeld writer's father and popularized by Frank Costanza, this secular holiday that involves gathering around an aluminum pole and airing your grievances has continued to gain a following since its introduction in 1997.

Please join us!!

We'll be hosting "Winter Wonderland" on Friday, November 25th at the Bank's Main Office, located on the Milford Green from 5:30 to 8:00 pm. The event, which will take place during Milford's Annual Lighting of the Trees, will feature various winter-themed activities for children and adults of all ages.

Attendees will be treated to character impersonators for a meet & greet and photos, a train ride, Pokémon lures, carolers, crafts and much more!

Horse and Carriage rides around the Milford Green will no longer be offered.

Susan Shields, Milford Bank President & CEO says of the event, "We are very excited to be able to offer Winter Wonderland to the Milford Community. We have loved offering the horse and carriage rides for many years but with the retirement of the horse farm owners, we have taken this opportunity to create a fun family event for everyone to enjoy."
