7 Summer Travel Tips—as featured on Today

Plan Ahead

Plan ahead to secure the best fares and avoid squeezing in a last-minute trip during August before school starts, as this is the busiest time. In fact, it is not too early to start thinking about summer 2018 travel.

Try This Trick at Great Hotels

Stay in the least expensive room in the best hotel, and enjoy the enhanced service, amenities and overall experience at a better price point.

Allow For Extra Layover Time

Allow a minimum of two hours between connecting flights. This extra layover time may help you make your plane if summer storms wreak havoc on airline schedules.

Know This New Airport Rule

Arrive at the airport a minimum of an hour before boarding, not an hour before departure. This is a newer rule and should be heeded during the busy summer season.

Splurge on This

Splurge on a hotel that is closer to the sights and activities you have planned. It will save you precious time and travel costs.

Use Miles for Upgrades

Book economy seats, but use miles to upgrade to business class.

Get to the Hotel at This Time

Arrive at your hotel at check-in time (usually 3:00 pm). You will have more options available then to change your room than later in the day after more guests have arrived.

August might be summer time, but it is a pretty cool month. In fact it is a lot of people's favorite. So what makes August so wonderful?

1. Did you know that August never starts on the same day as any other month? August starts on Tuesday this year, but no other month does. The only exception to this rule is on a leap year, when it starts on the same day as February.

In contrast, August always ends on the same day as November's last day. This year both months end on Thursday.

2. August is the season for blackberries. It used to be that this is when blackberries started coming out, but in recent years, the warmer weather has seen them arrive as early as July. August is still the best month to go picking though, and you can make delicious blackberry pies and blackberry jam.
3. August has lots of quirky national & international events. Here are just a few:
 - Edinburgh Festival - Scotland
 - Goat Cheese Month - USA
 - Happiness Happens Month - USA
 - Panini Month - International
 - Watermelon Day - USA - 3rd August
 - Vinyl Record Day - USA - 12th August
 - Left-handers Day - International - 13th August
 - Lemon Meringue Pie Day - USA - 15th August
 - Toasted Marshmallow Day - USA - 30th August
